Ridley-Thomas Announces Selection of Dan Rosenfeld to Serve as Planning Deputy

Rosenfeld will serve the Second District handling important daily responsibilities, including transportation, environment and economic development

LOS ANGELES COUNTY - Supervisor Mark Ridley-Thomas has announced the hiring of Daniel A. Rosenfeld to serve as a Senior Deputy for the Second District team, responsible for planning, transportation, environment and economic development.

Mr. Rosenfeld will assist Supervisor Ridley-Thomas in dealing with high-profile projects such as planning and transportation issues to help create employment opportunities through economic development projects with public-private partnerships. "With over 35 years of successful private sector assessment and development, we welcome Daniel to the Second District team," Ridley-Thomas said.

The co-founder of Urban Partners LLC, an award-winning entrepreneurial real estate firm focusing on development and investment opportunities in the western United States, Mr. Rosenfeld helped the firm earn its reputation as a nationally recognized leader in urban infill, mixed-use and transit-oriented development, and adaptive re-use of historical structures.
